Your clutch is one of the most important operating components of your vehicle. It is responsible for ensuring smooth transmission of the engine's power between gears. The performance of your clutch is determined by a large number of factors, from driver behaviour to the weight of the load carried. IVECO clutches are manufactured to provide the best performance and durability over the widest range of operating conditions.

With these Exclusive Special Offers on genuine IVECO clutches there has never been a better time to get a new clutch.
